Not sure what got lost in translation here: never had the intention to go to any art fair or art show or anything of the kind.

All the artists we have in mind or send to you are people we have direct connections with. Not just their studio, but also their home. They are people the work of whom we follow, and many of them are already friendly (Arianna, Cali have had dinner or stayed home).

The idea is absolutely to have an impact on the ecosystem and to make a difference by supporting great artists when they need it.

Galleries references are important, because galleries allow artist to reach a broader audience. We would go directly to the source.

This is why it's important for me to go to LA or Berlin (or elsewhere) because those artists are not rich yet, they dont travel so much. They belong to a scene, and it does make a big difference to them if you connect in person.

The spirit is to have an impact on young, talented folks, and absolutely to stay at the source.

Once again, not sure was drifted away from this in communication

Thanks Darren

Good news!

I'm under the impression that checks will be exceptional (they are more cumbersome to handle), and we will use mostly wires.

Considering the time difference, my heavy travel and my own propension to do things at night and on week-ends I would much prefer having an internet code and be able to organize everything online when I need to.

When I use Interaudi (my US bank), they can do that, store the recurring beneficiaries, and do wires in multiple currencies, but I am not familiar with DB.

Of course, you could also have the same access and help me when needed.

Also, your point about bookkeeping is mitigated by the fact that, in any case, I will also need to have someone keeping track of the receipts and inventory, before shipping proofs to you. In any case there will be need for some work on my side before final filing is done.

On the other hand, if there is a "checks and balances" control issue, there could be a cap to my wiring powers (like the 10 K we discussed), that would be absolutely fine for me if this is the intent.

Please do let me know.

We can also talk about it (in Hawai now, free after 2 PM your time)

In any case, this is good and happy news. I'll review the first list of payments over the week-end.

Etienne

There is $1mm in the bank account. We can prepare checks or wires for you to sign upon request. This way book keeping gets done at same time. Just send back up with each request. How does that sound?

I was never worried about space.. I always knew he was enamored with human space exploration because it is big and showy.. I even wrote that in print early on.. for him that is science.. it isn't for those of us who know.. it is more bad news as far as I am concerned because this big budget will decimate real science.. 900 million cut in DOE office fo science will kill particle physics.. will end funding for me, for example..

perhaps its not the important dimension? If some share advantages of luck and otherse dont, the curve flattens, or becomes bimodal. one can imagine the fomation of "lucky enclaves" where luck is actually manufactured in a sense, and effects kept inthe group and further amplified. In a way, it is a kind of "market" to capture unusual events or to create cascades of events that would be otherwise difficult to create, anticipate, or predict?. I was at lunch yesterday with Dan Rose and he was saying that all of the major real estate families in NYC (excepting Trump) collectively think of the longer-term consequences of their actions for the larger group of dynasties.

How do these "intentinal" actions affect the natrual probability distributions? Perhaps not at all (!!!) but they might shift the curve or displace others at different places in the aggregate population (the curve). Lets keeep thinking.

BTW, this also has implication for my life (and yours)- we want to be members of various "lucky groups" (physical, mental, emotional, intellectual, etc), and if we pick the right sub-group, there will be natural regression to the mean in that group.... so, surround yourself with people as gifted or more, and use the power of RTM? Sometimes, it only works if the gaps are not too large, but I have found it a very useful heuristic in life.... in lots of areas.

When are you back?

surely be unloading a lot of tabloid copy. Because this will be tied to the election, the Trump-Clinton angle will amp up the attention 10-fold, in fact, possibly, a hundred fold. Possibly more than anything you've encountered before.

Meanwhile--

In a lawyer's letter, I'd suggest including the following points--not necessarily legal, but a warning about how a press campaign might unfold (publishers are more worried about being caught in negative media controversy than they are of legal threats):

1) Little, Brown has made on the record representations to at least one well-known journalist that it was not publishing a book by James Patterson about Jeffrey Epstein--possibly an effort to avoid inquiries about the questionable nature of the book;

2) The actual author of the book, John Connolly, is someone other than the stated author, James Patterson. Connolly is known to have developed an obsession with Epstein, such that, his longtime employer, Vanity Fair, has refused to allow him to write about Epstein for the magazine;

3) Sources have confirmed for us that Patterson has had little more than a minimal consulting role in the book, and that Connolly has functioned in every material way as the book's researcher and writer. We believe Patterson's "authorship" of the book will not stand up to scrutiny. And, indeed, that the entire notion of an extension of the Patterson franchise into nonfiction, as it has been used in fiction and children's book--effectively other authors writing under the Patterson name—presents a host of journalism ethical issues.

Mr. Weinberg –

I am a reporter with the ABC News investigative unit. We are gathering background research on the major candidates for President.

Seeing that both former President Clinton and Mr. Trump have been mentioned in connection to the Jeffrey Epstein case, I am interested in better understanding the case, it's current status, and any information that could help explain Mr. Epstein's dealings and interactions with both men.

I would very much appreciate the chance to meet and discuss this subject in an off the record conversation at your earliest convenience.

Please let me know if that would be possible, and if so, when and where we could meet.

Many thanks,

Matthew

China's big tech stocks have fallen into a bear market at the same time that regulatory threats against U.S. big tech companies are gaining momentum. Can U.S. big tech stocks soldier on alone or is this a harbinger that the group as a whole is losing its tremendous leadership position?

In recent months, China's BAT collapse has demonstrated how costly the expectation of invincibility can be—Baidu, Alibaba, and Tencent are all down more than 24% from their year-to-date closing highs. Citigroup's head of Asia strategy, Mohammed Apabhai, told CNN an apt analogy about the investor sentiment that led to BAT's collapse, likening "the exuberance for tech stocks to the Looney Tunes cartoons in which Wile E. Coyote chases Road Runner over a cliff." Given they've more or less moved in tandem for years, will FAANG follow the same path as BAT?

The BAT collapse was triggered by subpar earnings and a shifting regulatory environment in China. Facebook's miss in 2Q18—which drove a $120 billion single-day market cap loss, the biggest ever for a U.S. company—showed how decisive a turn could be if more U.S. tech darlings stumble this quarter.

i think this is a good point Jeffrey but i do think they are rarely sacrificed—certainly not Saddam or the sadistic Assads or Donald have you heard that Genghis Khan—for all i know a gentle nomadic warrior—left 5 million Y chromosomes in his wake, surviving today?

45% of marriages in Iraq are with first cousins of the doubly paternal kind—father's brother's child and this has been said to lead to easy fracturing of the country which only a powerful dictator like Saddam could contain of course "we" destroyed the country and it lies in ruins now—one end to the other leave tomorrow for Ft Lauderdale and then Sunday on to California

as always, if you have an hour or so i will be there

all best

Ken, delighted to meet. Jeffrey has long told me about your friendship and the respect he has for you. If you send me your mailing address, it would be my pleasure to send you my recent book about the Trump White House. I'm now at work on a sequel focusing on the legal case against Trump and Trump's response to it. Any counsel and background you might provide would aid me enormously and enrich the book. I, of course, would be willing to talk with you on an entirely off-the-record basis or under any arrangement that suits. Thanks in advance and I look forward to the chance to chat. All best, Michael

So...a couple of times a year somebody can cull the Internet and write an article about you that recycles every other article. That's a reason to try to create a new story. But, on the other hand, by not offering new news the old seems just ho-hum.

Hi Jeff,

I realize the last term sheet was a draft, my fault (my computer sync'd the draft with the same name).

Here is a correct version, the last page is the signature page. It would be great if I could get this back tomorrow. Nothing is due until the recap is complete, hopefully in about 4 weeks. I am planning to start those discussions the end of next week.

Things are going well. The more I learn the more excited I get. I will be at Tarana tomorrow discussing a window mount version to try to get to self-install. 1gbps in a self-install package would be the last step.

We will only need a tower ever 4-5km in the city, which is basically 2 or 3 rooftops for all of Boston. I met with American Tower today (I know their CEO and CTO) and they have plenty of room on the John Hancock.

Fun Stuff and great to be doing something together!

CALL TO ACTION

Gruterites,

What prompted my first memo was a concern that we have a psychopath or sociopath or malignant narcissist or narcissist or Mach (Machiavellian) in the White House, whether or not those categories grade into a continuum. What might be the remedy? To start, someone should get the word out.

It isn't about partisanship. The far left, with its ancient forbears such as Marius or Peisistratos, has shown equal menace or worse. It's about fitness for office. The President is the world's number one fiduciary. A fiduciary puts the trust first. Persons without empathy or remorse are not prudent choices.

By book, I mean a collection of papers along the lines of "Moral Markets." A mass-market book would be even better if one of us is up for it and up to it.

If I am right in fitting the president somewhere in the groups I listed, the nation faces a different and deeper crisis than many had thought. That clarifies the question and its urgency. We may or may not reach consensus on the answer. Each of us will decide separately, as always, on what is relevant and where logic leads. The overall theme might be something like "personality disorders in leadership." There would be attention, but not exclusive attention, to which shoe if any fits the President.

No doubt he and DT know each other well too. Have to say, he is looking/sounding increasingly unhinged -- are you tempted to take any money off the table in the markets?

Shouldn't be to bad if we are leaving early and Trump is not scheduled to depart until 3pm on Sunday, the Departure will be similar to a DCA Departure with Customs,
TSA will have an office set up inside the FBO, you will enter the main lobby at Atlantic and be escorted to the plane after you meet with TSA officers.,
I have to schedule all passengers names 24hours in advance, no additions within 24 Hours,

Thx
Larry

Importance: High

You nailed it! (before ~1/2 of family).

Still in China - from Party Congress through Trump "State+ Visit". Many interviews/commentaries (CNN/BBC attached).

More important (from some ultimate reference frame): Radical Breakthroughs. Preproduction going well; expect to send by end of month complete preproduction document, with 3-4 pages on each of the 13 episodes - refined versions of the prototypes (first two episodes) I sent you in late Sept. Excited. Looking forward to discussing content.

I'll be in NY from ~Nov. 21/22 through early January. When to meet? Breakthroughs and of course politics / geopolitics (so much).

this was just tweeted by famous saudi opposition @mujtahidd .. almost 2 million followers ..

#Trump_MBS scandal involving President @realDonaldTrump and Crown Prince Mohammad bin Salman...

Following @realDonaldTrump's visit to SA, US stance on Saudi affairs changed especially on competition between MBS & MBN and Qatar siege.

MBS = Saudi Crown Prince Mohammad bin Salman (de facto King)
MBN = Mohammad bin Nayef (deposed Saudi Crown Prince and Interior Minister)

Prior to @realDonaldTrump, US institutions stood firmly with MBN throughout Obama's presidency. This was reaffirmed in a letter to the King.

After @realDonaldTrump's Riyadh visit, he changed the US stance on the MBS v MBN power struggle and forced the establishment to back MBS.

Past US administrations were keen on avoiding strife within GCC: This is because American interests cannot be upheld without a harmonic GCC.

That was until @realDonaldTrump's return from Saudi upon which Qatar siege began and he openly supported it contradicting Defence&State Dept

That was until @realDonaldTrump's return from Saudi upon which Qatar siege began and he openly supported it contradicting Defence&State Dept

More bizarrely; MBS has a secure direct line to Trump like no other leader has - not even Israeli Netanyahu & British May...

The following story explains MBS's 'special' influence over @realDonaldTrump - even if it means compromising America's national interests...

During @realDonaldTrump's Riyadh visit in May 2017 a private yacht discreetly arrived at Jeddah Port; heavily guarded and identity hidden.

Even the Port's authorities were not allowed near it. Only a number of individuals reached it - delivering several boxes of cash ($1bn USD).

After loading the boxes, the yacht disappeared. The operation lasted hours & was kept secret as was yacht's identity, origin and destination

It transpired from MBS's inner circles that the $1bn was from MBS himself & the yacht belonged indirectly to @Trump Organisation. #Trump_MBS

He is digging around again -- not clear if its another book/or expanded paperback version. Was asking me all sorts of questions about why you hired Ken Starr. I told him I had no idea -- I think he is doing some Trump-related digging too.

Anyway, for what its worth...
